The delightful garden fete given at the Pleasanton Thursday afternoon, by Captain and Mrs. Corwin P. Rees, in honor of Admirals Seabree and Barry, and the officers of Pacific Fleet was undoubtedly the most elaborate social function of the week and one of the most enjoyable as well. The luxuriant grounds were made festive for the occasion with many colored signal flags strung on festoons from tree to tree, while huge jars of the brilliant red exotis decorated the refreshment tables and made a pleasing touch of bright colors. Mrs. Rees, in a charming lavender silk frock with over-dress of sheer white batiste, and stunning lavender hat whose purple plumes drooped gracefully over a wide band of steel passamenterie, was as usual a gracious and attentive hostess to her guests as they were presented by Mr. Walter Dillingham. Two massive solid silver punch bowls either belonging to the Washington and Pennsylvania graced either end of a large table and were presided over by Mrs. Harry Macfarlane and Mrs. George Davies at one end while Mrs. Richard Ivers and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder were serving at the others; all four of these charming matrons were gowned in handsome white lingerie frocks. Mrs. Macfarlane's hat which was a graceful leghorn prettily trimmed with lavender orchids, contrasting well with her white lace gown. Mrs. Gerrit Wilder and Mrs. George Davies wore dainty French bonnet hats of white, Mrs. Davies being trimmed and tied down with soft pink liberty ribbons, while Mrs. Wilder's was a charming contrast in soft shades of palest blue ribbon at the tea table. Mrs. Francis M. Swanzy and Mrs. George R. Carter, both gowned in lovely white lace Directoire gowns, presided, the latter serving tea while Mrs. Swanzy poured coffee assisted by Miss Irvin Schaefer and Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop. Ices were served at a pretty small table made attractive with flowers and ferns and presided over by Mrs. E. A. Mott-Smith, whose gown of white lace with black lace hat were very stylish and becoming. Among the large number of guests present were the following: Admiral and Mrs. Seabree, Admiral Barry, Major and Mrs. Beecher B. Ray, Governor and Mrs. Walter Frear, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Captain and Mrs. Wm. W. Low and Mrs. Parmelee, Major Dunning, Civil Engineer Parks and Mrs. Parks, Miss Frear, Paymaster and Mrs.

while on its winter cruise. The unique courses represented Honolulu, Hawaii, Admiralty Island, Guam, Manila, Japan and China. It was an unusually elaborate affair as well as a very beautiful one. The beauties of San Francisco who were bidden to grace the festive board were: Mrs. Joseph Norris, Mrs. Robert Hayes Smith, the Misses Claire Nichols, Anna Weller, Adna Peters, Eliza McMillen, Innes Keeney and Mabel Gregory. The hosts and dancing men of the party were: Lieut. Com. Ziegler, U. S. N.; Ensign William Glassford Jr., Ensign Pon, U. S. N.; Ensign Sears, U. S. N.; Ensign Hartigan, U. S. N.; Ensign Madin, U. S. N.; Ensign Almen, U. S. N.; Midshipman Gunther, U. S. N. and Midshipman Almy, U. S. N.; Dr. Culbertson and Paymaster John Irwin.—S. P. Examiner.

The Moana Hotel was en fete Wednesday evening in honor of the Annual Polo Ball given by Oahu to entertain their guests from Maui as well as prominent society people in Honolulu. The dining room and parlors were festively decorated with the colors of both teams prettily combined, while Polo wallets hung gracefully upon the walls with streamers of gayly colored ribbons. The grounds were ablaze with many colored incandescent bulbs and altogether the scene was a brilliant and attractive one. Many officers of the Army and Navy appeared in full dress uniform while the charming gowns worn by the many pretty women present were a delight to the eye of a connoisseur.

Fall millinery has replaced the summer styles. The best exhibition of the new styles is at Miss Power's millinery parlors in the Boston building, second floor. Miss Power's hats show beautiful and quaint ideas worked out most artistically. Turbans predominate, but numerous variations on these are made with trimmings of different kinds. The hats shown are fresh from the world's fashion centers where the brightest brains and the nimblest fingers have been at work, and the exposition presents a most attractive feature to visitors. The ladies of Honolulu, tourists and other visitors are invited to see the newest conceits at Miss Power's parlors.

The latest news from Honolulu is that Mrs. Harold Dillingham will soon arrive by steamer to visit with her mother, Mrs. Hyde-Smith, and her sister, Mrs. Baldwin Wood. The length of the visit of the sweet bride of a year ago is not stated, but everyone hopes to be able to entertain the popular girl who was such a reigning belle a season or so ago.

First Lieutenant Moses, U. S. M. C., who was stationed here until a short time ago, returned to the Islands with the armored cruiser squadron. He is stationed on board the cruiser West Virginia, First Lieutenant Underwood, U. S. M. C., who was also here for considerable time is greeting his old friends in Honolulu, he having arrived on the Pennsylvania.

"John, I believe the new girl has stolen the whisk-broom. I left it on the dining room table last night." "I guess the joke is on me, Mary, it was not quite light when I got up this morning and I thought you had left a shredded wheat biscuit out for my breakfast."—Houston Post.
